OGDEN SOCIETY.

(Special Correspondence.) Ogden, March 18.—"The Function of Woman's Clubs in Education" was the subject of an able and interesting address by Mrs. Martha Burgess-Jendress by Mrs. Martha Burgess-Jen-nings, delivered at the monthly meet-ing of the city teachers this morning. Besides the teachers there was a large representation of club women present and the lecture was directed as much toward the club women as to the teachers. Mrs. Jennings took the ground that there is a field of useful-ness in education quite distinct trom ness in education quite distinct from that of the teacher, and that this field may be filled by the club women. There should be a complete understanding be-tween club women pursuing educa-tional subjects and the teachers. stand in favor of its incorporation in the school system, even at the expense of the higher branches, She argued that the kindergarten was the foundation of the true educational system and should not be neglected. Furthermore it would tend to diffuse education more generally through the masses, since the generally through the masses, since the numbers of pupils of kindergarten ago are so much greater than of high school age. She would not be understood as opposing the high school, but if one or the other had to be curtailed, then curtail the high school
